MOTORISTS GO OVER SEA WALL

Car Belonging to Thomas
Luc, With Three Occupants, In Collision
Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon about three thirty, a Ford sedan belonging to Thomas Luc collided on North Beach Boulevard and Union street with a coupe driven by Gus E. Temple, the impact of the collision causing the larger car which was driving down the beach boulevard to somersault down the high embankment at this point and land sideways in the water. Riding in the automobile which went over the embankment were Mr. Luc's two sisters, Miss Katherine Luc and Miss Lena Luc, and a friend from New Orleans who was visiting for the day. Except for being badly shaken up and receiving minor bruises, no one received any serious injury, which is considered miraculous. The Temple automobile was badly damaged and the sedan which was later recovered from the water by the Ben F. Hille Company was almost completely demolished.

ADDITIONAL CITY ECHOES.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Jacobi and their son, the Rev. Father Jacobi, of New Orleans, left Thursday morning by auto for a trip through Texas, visiting at various points, and heading down Mexico way. The trip is strictly recreational and with ideal weather every anticipation should be realized to the fullest extent. During their absence the local business is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jacobi, Jr.

—A requiem mass offered Tuesday morning at the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf was for the repose of the soul of Monsignor J. M. Prendergast, former pastor of the church, killed in a recent automobile accident near Vicksburg. School children received Holy Communion in a body as well as friends and acquaintances of the late vicar general of the Diocese of Mississippi. This special mass, held at 6:30 o'clock, was largely attended.

—Ensign Dan M. Russell, recently inducted into the intelligence service at New Orleans, came out Sunday, spending the morning in Bay St. Louis and later in the afternoon spending the balance of the day with his parents, Judge and Mrs. D. M. Russell at Gulfport. Handsome Danny never looked to advantage in dress in his uniform of white and gold braid. He is in the legal department of the governmental service.

—Both local school publications, the Rock-A-Chaw, St. Stanislaus College, and The Student, Bay High, have resumed active publication for the scholastic year. The Rock-A-Chaw, already appearing while The Student Prints has the first number in press for publication next Tuesday afternoon. Both papers are of high standing and hold enviable positions in the ranks of collegiate publications. They are not only newsy and bright but excellently edited and have won national recognition from time to time.

—There is a disposition manifested in many parts of the city to have the city lights resumed in full measure as the absence of lights are an annoyance to many and a detriment to the city's appearance.

HARVEST FESTIVAL AT STANISLAUS

This year the Harvest Ball is set for the night of Wednesday, November 28. It will be held in the St. Joseph Memorial Hall.

The Harvest Ball originated about seven years ago, back in 1934 when a few members of the Mothers' Club thought that this school should have a social event to correspond with the Carnival Ball of late winter. The purpose of this dance is to raise funds for some needs of the school. This year the proceeds will go for the new band uniforms which have already been ordered.

The king to reign over the visitors of this night is chosen by votes bought of the students. The king in turn has the privilege to choose some fair maiden for his queen. This indeed is a great privilege to be conferred upon any young couple. Candidates for king are chosen by members of the individual classes who wish to enter a competitor in the election. Combination ballots are sold throughout town and school by those who wish to support a candidate. Any boy who desires to be a duke can become one by selling a certain number of ballots. He in turn is allowed to choose his maid. The only obligation binding the dukes is that they are compelled to wear a dress suit while the king is attired in tails. The queen is to be garbed in formal gown with crown and train. Though the theme has not been decided and the band not chosen, a good dance in general can be expected by all.

Garden Club And City Sponsoring Clearing Of Traffic Hazard

A border of crepe myrtle trees and yuccas on the beach front just next to the Highway Bridge at the head of Uman avenue was this week trimmed short and a clearing made removing a serious traffic hazard at this important point along a national highway and where thousands of automobiles cross the bridge daily. The work was sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club and made possible by the generous cooperation and assistance which the city officials at all times accord the Garden Club.

A number of serious accidents have occurred at this intersection of Highway 90 and North Beach Boulevard and the clearing of the view from all directions is an excellent idea. It is hoped that at all times the Garden Club will be able to assist the city in such a manner.

E. P. ORTTE'S GULFPORT ENTERPRISE

Bay St. Louis Theater Owner And Operator Building
New Playhouse at Gulfport.

A representative of The Echo visited the building operations of a new theater building at Gulfport, another playhouse to be added to the Gulf coast chain of the E. P. Ortte's enterprise. The building faces the plaza to the rear of the Union Depot at Gulfport, the interior of a two-story building formerly known as the Union Hotel being torn out and in its place an arched ceiling being installed. This work is already in progress and the ultimate results promised to give Gulfport and the Coast another fine theater seating about 750 people. Mr. Ortte is building under the auspices of the Legion at Gulfport, and other associates thus insuring the favor and patronage of a large clientele.

It is hardly necessary to say the new playhouse will be equipped with the very latest, characteristic of Mr. Ortte's enterprise. There will be the usual stage, space, latest type of screen and the very last word in projection machine. Quite a lot of men are at work on the building and it is expected it will be ready for formal opening and for business before the Christmas holidays. Mr. Ortte is to be congratulated on his enterprise and success as well as his expansion, and from what The Echo representative saw and was told the theater is going to be one of the outstanding on the Gulf Coast. Possibly not one of the biggest, but one of the best.

MOSS POINT BEATEN BY STANISLAUS

Blanchard Scores All 27
Points to Lead Rock Attack.

Last night the Rocks emerged victorious in the fourth victory of the year, the third in two weeks. Three of which were St. Aloysius, Catholic HI, and Moss Point. In last night's tilt the Red and Black team journeyed to the home town of the Moss Point Tigers to defeat them by the humiliating score of 27-7.

Though the score did not show it, this game furnished much excitement for those who were present. In the first period the Stanislaus boys opened with a bang, scoring in the first few minutes of play, however that was only the beginning of the excitement, several moments later the Moss Pointers also crossed the white stripe making the score 7-7 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Rock power proved to be too much for the opponents, Blanchard accounted for two tallies in this period and one extra point.

Except for the final tally by Blanchard in the final quarter, the scoring activities for the evening were ended. At the final whistle the score remained 27-7.

Though the Moss Pointers were extremely fast and tricky, the Rocks out-did them in fine defense playing combined with extraordinary fine offensive playing. In this game the Rocks displayed their passing ability completing five out of six passes. The Rock-A-Chaws, passing defense also proved to be outstanding blocking four out of five passes.

NEEDS OF UNITED STATES ARMY-NAVY

Draft Rejections.
Reports on the two million registrants under the Selective Service Act examined so far reveal the shocking information that about one-half were found unfit physically or mentally for Army service. Forty-one percent were rejected by local boards and nine percent turned down by the army. Defective teeth accounted for 20.9 percent of the rejections; eyes, 13.7 percent; heart ailments, 10.6 percent; venereal diseases, 6.3 percent.

When these figures were revealed, the President immediately ordered an investigation, and he has since announced a program to "salvage" 200,000 of the 1,000,000 men rejected. Under the program the President indicated that this salvage program was only the initial step in a long-range program to remedy the conditions which are the underlying cause of the bad health situation through the cooperation of the Federal and State health departments and other agencies.

Nurses Needed.
The War Department has announced that more than 10,000 nurses are needed for the Army nurse corps. At present 5,973 Regular Army and Reserve nurses are on duty, but 2,264 more are needed to meet the authorized quota. In addition, 4,000 Reserve nurses will be needed to care for trainees during the coming year. Also, about forty percent of the Reserve nurses who accepted one year assignments are expected to require discharge at the end of this time, and 4,144 must be enrolled to balance the number retiring. Information relative to Regular Army nurses may be obtained from the Surgeon General, War Department, Washington, D. C. The American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., can furnish particulars with reference to Reserve nurses.

In addition to the need for graduate nurses, opportunities are available for entering training as a nurse. Young women interested in such training should communicate with the Nursing Information Bureau, 1790 Broadway, New York City, or the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

Arming Merchant Ships.
The House by a vote of 259 to 138 passed the Administration's bill repealing Section 6 of the Neutrality Act and affirmatively authorizing the President to arm American merchant ships. The bill passed the House after two days of debate and now goes to the Senate for action. The passage of this bill by the House recalls the fact that in 1917 the House by an overwhelming vote at the request of President Wilson passed a similar law authorizing President Wilson to arm merchant ships in World War No. 1. The bill then went to the Senate where the "wilted" Senators by an extended filibuster talked the bill to death, and the Congress adjourned on Mar. 4, 1917, without the passage by the Senate of the House bill. President Wilson thereupon took the position that having been blocked by a handful of Senators he would resort to the authority which the Constitution gave him and arm the ships himself. This he did. Whether history will repeat itself here remains to be seen. But it is generally thought that the Senate will pass the bill within the next two or three weeks.

OCTOBER GLORIOUS MONTH.

October, the month when nature splashes the roadways and hedges with gold and rust, and the leaves begin changing to deep warm colors, is almost over and has been noted this year by its excellent weather. Although too warm in mid-day, with a temperature of 93 noted in New Orleans earlier in the month and one which created an all-time record for the day, the cool nights and mornings have been ideal and have attracted numbers of visitors to this section of the country.

THE SIDELINES CLUB

BAY St. Louis has two athletic sideline clubs that stand for much and have accomplished results. These are the Sidelines Club of St. Stanislaus College and the Booster Club of Bay High School.

The Sidelines Club of S. S. C. already has 90 members. But that is not sufficient. There should possibly be twice that number. That would be commensurate with the splendid advertising and general benefit Bay St. Louis receives in return.

St. Stanislaus has a fine football team. It is something worthy of support and boosting. Last Friday the team scored a victory over Moss Point by 27-7. That was conclusive.

This Friday night the team is meeting the formidable team of Picayune, this is the first game for several seasons. The game will be played on the Stanislaus field.

It will be a battle royal. The weather is propitious, the game will be one of the best of the season and there should be a large attendance.

It behooves those who cannot join the Sidelines Club to attend tonight's game and all games to follow. It is part of our community work and we should go into it one hundred per cent.

WHO LIVES ON THE PLANET, MARS?

THE Planet Mars, which is usually more than 250,000,000 miles from the earth, is now only about 38,000,000 distant and, consequently, astronomers are interested in the "close" visit of the planet about which there has been so much speculation.

Human beings have wondered whether the planet is inhabited by other beings, similar to us. There has been speculation about "canals," and the existence of certain green areas on the planet. However, as Mars approximates a desert planet, with little water on its surface, it would be a wild presumption to conclude that life, as it exists among the human race is on the planet.

At this stage of man's knowledge, we know very little about the universe. We should not concern ourselves overmuch with the possible existence of human beings on the planets. Rather, we might spend our speculative time in considering the possible existence of other forms of life, capable of existence under conditions which seem to be on the planet.

RUSSIANS HAVE EARNED ASSISTANCE

THE battle in Russia continues unabated, with the result uncertain. The Russians, according to late dispatches, are slowing the German advance, but is too early to say that Hitler has failed in his new campaign.

Back of the German offensive is the desire to knock out the Red army. This will occur when the Russians run out of fighting equipment, tanks, planes, guns and ammunition. Behind the incessant Nazi attacks is the hope that the Soviet has not sufficient reserve strength to keep the fight going.

There is little prospect that Great Britain or the United States will be able to rush supplies to Russia in time to relieve her present plight. This is not to say that supplies should not be rushed. The Russians have already won the support of the free nations of the world by their heroic resistance and deserve to survive unto a better day.

GERMANY FAILS IN OBJECTIVE

THE latest and most satisfying war news was presented this mid-week when the Associated Press sent out the following:

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies face the prospect of sitting in winter-bound trenches until spring almost within sight of the two great prizes that failed to fall, Moscow and Leningrad, according to advices reaching London.

Declaring that the 21-day old German offensive against Moscow has already passed its peak and bogged down in snow-mired, all but impassable roads, a high-ranking neutral military authority in London said the tide of conflict has so turned that embassies which flew Moscow may shortly return.

Hitler, he said, has failed to achieve the swift victory promised in a speech October 3 in which the fuhrer announced that the drive on Moscow would be "the last great, decisive battle of this year."

F. B. I. OUTWITTED THE GESTAPO

J Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, challenges Hitler to "twist his lying tongue" to claim that the Battle of America is going "according to plan."

Mr. Hoover is pleased with the fact that hoodwinking the overpublicized efforts of the Gestapo. "Nearly 2,000 American plants have been surveyed by the FBI and there has been no major disaster at the hands of saboteurs."

Hitler, it is said, once boasted that "America would be too soft to resist a fifth column of lack." The evidence to date, however, suggests that for once, Der Fuhrer was wrong in his calculations.

The FBI for the first time has issued a public statement which says that Hitler's fifth column is a myth.

THE DREAM FOR HENDERSON POINT

In digging data, checking and preparing material for the commemorative edition The Echo has in the final phases of preparation, one comes across strange and interesting things of interest. Perhaps that is the most interesting side of this expedition for fact.

But aside from the strange side of things there comes to notice things that people had planned and had hoped to do. Big projects—that never materialized. Others, little hoped for, exceeded expectations.

One of the subjects in the public mind during the late eighties and early nineties was what was then considered a great dream, the building of a fashionable tourist hotel at Henderson Point, to be financed by a stock company.

A hotel colossal in size and equipped with every modern improvement and comfort, Henderson Point was declared the logical place for such hotel, even then the great Mexican Gulf Hotel at Pass Christian was in existence. Incidentally, this hotel was filled to capacity every winter and was the one big hotel of the Gulf Coast.

However, the great hostelry planned and dreamed of for Henderson Point never did become a reality. In its place, however, the Inn-by-the-Sea has taken place and perhaps better fills the "long-felt want." The promoters of the big hotel are gone and so is their dream. It was a great aim. The writer well remembers the interest manifested for this proposed project.

Henderson Point has gone through a different transition. It has built to a popular place of resort, with highway and bridge converging at this point there has been built a place that gives promise of possibilities and in time will be one of the important spots on the Coast.

NO ONE IS INDISPENSABLE

It would be a good lesson to Labor extremists if management could "take over" in every field, just to show the smarties that they're not so essential that they can't be done away with. That's what is the trouble. People who think they are so vital feel that they can afford to strike. They remind one of the story told of the two boys who met outside the employee's entrance of an old and reliable department store. "Hi, there," said one, "Watcha doin' around here? They fired you last week. Tryin' to get your job back?"

"Heck, no!" scoffed the "fired" one, "I just stopped round to see if they vuz still in business."

Mary is correct. There is no one whose place cannot be filled. And the strike is the most vicious form of enmity towards the government, particularly in time of peril, that can be imagined. But these conditions will not continue. The United States is already at war. It will soon be formally declared and when a state of war is declared to exist then and there a state of emergency will be declared and the government will take charge. Mary Cain, the brilliant writer and analyst of the Summit Sun, is antagonistic to the New Deal and President Roosevelt, which indeed is her right. But when the time will come President Roosevelt will be found not wanting. She may step around the White House and find the country "is still in business."

OCTOBER ON THE GULF COAST

OCTOBER has been called the golden month of the year. And right it is. Harvest time, harvest moon and all kinds of romance have been brought into play by poets and musicians, but after all that, is said and done the fact remains October is the rich and fulsome month of the entire twelve-month period. Here is beauty and pleasure enshrined.

Exceptionally so is the tenth month of the calendar this year. We are enjoying glorious weather, warm days and cool nights, sunny days and every element is inviting. The Gulf Coast is at its best just now and it is not surprising to note the many visitors that come out from crowded city precincts to enjoy the unusual weather.

Mississippi Gulf Coast has much to offer. Not only October in all its phases of splendor, but outdoor recreation to the full ramut of things as they go in this sense. Forest and field, lake and stream, highway and byway plus entertainment for those who rather not the more strenuous pursuits but would rather chose the path of least resistance. Then it is no wonder the Gulf Coast of Mississippi is the greatest of all places to live; where one enjoys life, dreams life away as it were and get their full quota of happiness that's their God-given right. Other places have their same kind of October but not plus the beauty and charm of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

COMMUNITY WORK

NO place where people dwell in economic endeavor will succeed unless there is a full union of community spirit.

Community work consists of assisting every public cause calculated for the betterment of the individual that makes up the vast public.

School church work, athletics, Red Cross, King's Daughters, civic clubs, all come under the group of community work.

Buying at home as far as possible is another means of furthering community advancement. Residents of a community are like one big family. It must be one for all and all for one. Without this bond there is little chance of gaining headway and of remaining after position is reached.

Bay St. Louis has every element that gives opportunity for community endeavor and we are proud to note this kind of spirit exists and tends to expand.

HOW TO PRODUCE FOR THE HOME TABLE THE YEAR-ROUND, LOCALLY

Miss Eleanor Smith, Home Demonstration Agent Tells How.

Bay St. Louis and Hancock home gardens can provide something green for the table the year round. Spinach, kale, rape and collards are crops that will furnish a continuous supply of greens for the winter months, says Miss E. Smith, home demonstration agent. She urges that attention be given to these crops now so that the family may enjoy these fresh health-giving foods during the winter.

Make several plantings of these greens to extend the production season. Use nitrate or soda or ammonium sulphate as a side dressing for fall garden crops. Apply 1 to 2 pounds to the 100 feet of row when plants have four to six permanent leaves. Further directions are as follows:

Kale—Plant during October or the first half of November using one half ounce of seed to each 100 feet of row. Varieties recommended are Siberian Dwarf Green Curled and Dwarf Green Curled Scotch. This vegetable will be available for table use during the fall and winter months. It is the hardest of all winter greens, frost improving the quality rather than injuring it. Kale has a higher vitamin A content than any other vegetable and is valuable as a source of minerals.

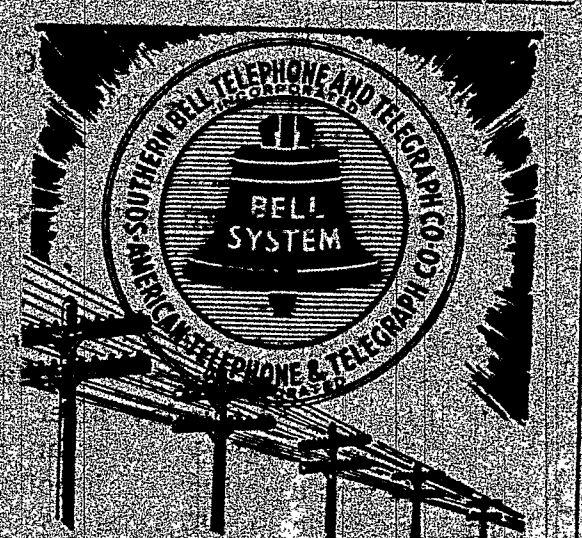

Rape—Planting may be made from now to March. This crop is a valuable for human and livestock consumption and is ready to use eight weeks after seed are sown.

Spinach—Plant during late October or early November. Succession plantings later in the winter are sometimes killed by a hard freeze, just after sprouting and before permanent leaves are formed, though late plantings are at times successful. Varieties recommended are Virginia Savory and Aragon—the latter variety being preferred for home use. Soils that are acid, with a reaction much below pH 6, need an application of lime for best results with this crop.

Plantings of tender greens and mustard may be made in central and south Mississippi through October.

Pet Dog Lured Away By Trap on R.R. Returned to Owner

On last Thursday evening, "Puppy," favorite year old Irish Setter belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Monti, failed to return home and a diligent and painstaking search revealed no trace of the lost dog. Mr. and Mrs. Monti, lovers of animals and possessors of a number of highly bred dogs, were very much distressed over the disappearance of their pet and continued to search and inquire everywhere about it. On Monday evening, the Monti were

ONE LINE OF DEFENSE THAT MUST REMAIN IMPREGNABLE

Of vital importance to the South's security is the dependability of its far-reaching telephone lines.

On their constantly maintained efficiency depends continuity and flexibility of communication between military, industrial, and civilian forces necessary to the nation's defense.

In this crisis, Southern Bell is faced with the three-fold task of giving "all-out" service to defense, industry, and the public—a task requiring every ounce of its resources.

In most cities and towns in the nine southern states we serve, the demand upon our services is without precedent.

In many of these places, mass troop and civilian concentrations in addition to increased industrial demands have made the continuation of normal telephone service difficult.

Against these critical times, telephone workers ask your cooperation and appreciation. Understanding of the problems which confront them is essential for the efficient service which they are able to give.
